SUPPOSED CASE OF SELF DESTRUCTION.

Testerday morning, a few minutes after the ferry boat fransit had left the New York side to cross over to Brooklyn for the half-past three o'clock trip, lemale, whose strange behavior had been re emale, whose strange behavior nad occur, was miss marked by one of the crew of the boat, was miss marked by one of the crew of the boat, was miss marked by one of the crew of the beat, was missing. Starch was made all over the beat, but nothing could be found of her. She was a young laiv, apparently about 19 years of age, of respectable apparance, and dressed in a plaid silk dress and light colored cape, arbonned with black velvet. Our reports was informed by a New York pilice efficer that he had followed her from up town down to the South ferry; that she first entered the Hamilton ferry, and as the fracas: arrived first she changed her mind and went on board of that ferry beat. There is no doubt that she jumped overboard unnoticed, as besides the officer there were but two passengers in the cabin.

A young lady, apparently about 18 or 20 years of the desired in fashionable plaid silk, gray circular cloak age, dressed in fashionable plaid slik, gray circular cloak, with wide black trimmings, with cape or hood on the cloak and a bow on the same, dark colored bonnet, with dark voil and recled gaiters, passed down Broad var yes terday (Sunday) morning, about 2½ o'clock. (was observed by different policemen,) to South and Hamilton avenue ferry: paid and went into Hamilton avenue ferry to cross to Brooklyn, but as the boat was not in and there being a boat in the other slip, she concluded to make the boat for Atlantic street, Brooklyn, instead of Hamilton avenue. When the boat was about half was across she passed out of the cabin towards the rear end of the boat, and was not seen afterwards, atthough offigent search was immediately made for her. Any further information may be had by calling on or addressing William B. Glasby, No. 18 Minetta lane, New York.

Ounques Rancer Formp And Lost.—Some warkmen in Ounous Rener Forms And Lost .- Some workmen in scavating in the cellar of 62 Broad street, cocupied by tin Owen & Co., came upon a well, some four teet in stameter, neatly stoned, upon the cover of which was the signre of a female bolding a bunch of granes, surrounded by fruit, Ao. neatly executed in has relief and bearing the date of A. D., 1661. Being a great curiosity the firm were desirous of keepinght, but it was stolen during the day by some of the workmen. Murrary.-The 1st and 3d regiments of the First Bri

Explosion or Gas .- On Saturday afternoon, shortly after Bur o'clock, an explosion of gas took place in the dwellbeg house No. 141 Norfolk street, occupied in part by Mr. Thomas Ryan and family. It seems that gas dixtures wore being put into the house, but from a defect in the pipe, gas had escaped, and when Mr. Ryan put a light to the pipe in the back room, first floor, an explosion in tantily ensue, carrying away the window casing and setting the woodwork on fire. Mr. Ryan's wife and child were in the room at the time, and all three have received aome burns. With much difficulty the fire was order guished. The damage is estimated at about $300.

The republicans of the First ward have nominated Wm. S. Russelt for Alderman. The republicans of the Fourth ward have nominated General E. B. Deryea for the same office; and the Tenth ward repub-road, on account of fraud, and directed the holding of new elections on Wednesday ext. Several of the other wards were contested, but were declared regular by the committee.

John Cope, who was nominated for Justice of the Peace for the Second district, by the Democratic City Con-vention, has declined in favor of Zachariah Voorbles, who will probably be nominated for the reassembling of the Convention to-day. There appears to be no opposition.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD. NEW YORK, Oct. 18, 1856. I have read with much surprise the various statements put forth by Max Maretsek and his friends in regard to Boral gentlemen, actuated by a high admiration of urt, building in question. In return for this investment they required only a payment of the interest accruing on the when tarily erected, out of their own private funds, the building in question. In return for this investment they required only a payment of the interest accruing on the mortages, the taxes, the interest accruing on the mortages, the taxes are very representation in the building. Certainly auch terms were most reasonable. The house is capable of helding five thousand people. Two hundred sea s form a very small portion of its vast capacity. Twice that number are lost by the pouterous columns that support the tiers. It would be difficult to select what are called the "these teats" in the house. Frey person has his own opinion on that subject. It is absurd, therefore, to say that the stockholders baye more political the only available scale in the building.

Tennia have no fealt to find with their landfords where the terms have been clearly expressed and understood in the beginning. They have it in their no were right to complain afterwards.

Max Maretzek, however, with a sublime condense, not only undertakes to be the dictator in musical matters, but also to prescribe to the owners of the Academy the terms upon which he will condescend to become their learns upon which he will condescend to become their learns upon which he will condescend to become their learns upon which he will condescend to become their learns upon which he will condescend to become their learns upon which he will condescend to be absurbanced and the final subject of the final subject of

The special committee to whom was referred the Rhines, were to have met, per adjournment, at 3 P. M. on Saturday in the City Hall. Only Alderman Corwin, the chairman of the committee, was present, and not having the necessary papers the investigation could not be pro-ceeded with. The other members of the committee, it ceeded with. The other members of the committee, it was said, had been present a short time before, but dinot think it worth their while to wait and attend to their duty.

The disregard of the committee of the Common Council to be present at their appointed meetings is too notorious to need remark; but as this case involves the character of a public officer, the committee, or some members of it, ought to be more attentive to their engagements and duty, so as to give that officer an opportunity to prove himself innocent and worthy of public condidence, or an opportunity to the party making such as rious charges to substantiate them, if it be possible for him to do so.

Alderman Corwin and the parties interested waited till near 4 P. M., and then adjourned till Tuesday, the 21st, at 3 P. M., when it is to be hoped all the members of the committee will be present, and the investigation, as all parties seem to desire, be thoroughly carried out.

CAPTURE OF AN ALIBORD BURGLAR .- James B. Smith, young man about twenty years of age, was arrested by officer Scott, of the Fifteenth ward police, on Saturday evening, on charge of burglary. The accused, it is alleged, broke into the office of Mr. John B. Erush, 442 Broadway, with intent to steal. Mr. Brush, 442 Broad-way, with intent to steal. Mr. Brush, while attempting to enter his office encountered the burglar, when a des-perate struggle ensued, resulting in the temporary es-cape of the latter. Officer Scott, however, came along in proper time to arrest the accused. In the possession of the prisoner was found a number of skeleton keys. Jus-tice Osberne cammitted Smith for trial on charge of bur-glary.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

MONEY MARKET.

SUNDAY, Oct. 19—6 P. M. At the close yesterday the stock market was much depressed. All the life and activity of the few previous days had disappeared and given way for a dull, heavy feeling. At the time the upward movement com-menced, we showed that it could not be continued; that menced, we showed that it could not be continued; that it had no basis, and that those who were driven into the purchase of stocks would be serious sufferers. The result shows the correctness of our views. The bears solzed upon that opportunity to put out large contracts, and some of the largest holders were induced to increase their line. Overloaded as they were with stocks, any increase must prove burdensome and tax their carrying capacity to the ulmost. The next news from Europe is not likely to help money matters much ou this side. We hardly anticipate another advance in the rate of interest by the Bank of England by the next arrival, but we do expect to hear of an active demand for money in London at the rate last established by the bank. The first effect of that increase in the market value of money was to arrest the demand, but we have no idea that that would continue more than a few days, when the inquiry for continue more than a few days, when the inquiry for money would become as active as ever. The probability is that the Bank of France will make a further advance, and the next steamer may bring advices to that lar movement as no distant day, and the effect of such in-fluences upon the market can be easily imagined. The Bank of France is not going to suspend specie payments until all other expedients fall. Such a desperate alternative will not be resorted to until, after a hard fight, it is forced upon the management. In time of peacs, with large resources, it would not do to give up without a struggle; and we have an idea that the struggle must be a severe one before the bank would succumb. It France is an institution of too much importance in the France is an institution of too much importance in the financial world to take advantage of a modera e pressure to avail suelf of such a discreditable alternative. Other large banking institutions on the Continent have raised the rate of interest much beyond that of the Bank of France, and will centinue to advance until the desired effect is in that way produced. We look for very gloomy inancial intelligence by the next steamer. The arabia left Liverpool on the 11th for Boston, and will be due at Halifax about Toesday, with one week's later dates. Her news will be very important.

The exportations of specie from this port last week agure up more than we anticipated. The shipment by the Arago was unusually large for that line. The aggregate for the week was as follows:-

Total, 1856..... $30,657,730 29

Since Saturday, 11th inst., inclusive, the shipments of specie from this port have been upwards of two millions of dollars. In the same time the receipts have been about sixteen hundred thousand dollars. The Sub Treasury gained last week $275,000. In the face of these movements of the precious metals it strikes us that the bank state-ment on Monday must show a trifling reduction in the specie reserve. The shipment by the Arago on Saturday will not come out of the last week's supply of specie, but will affect the aggregate for next week.

The Daily Wisconsin, of the 4th inst., thus speaks of the Milwaukie and Horicon Railroad extension:—

Milwaukie and Horicon Railroad extension:—

The recent extension of this road to Brandon, eight miles beyond Waupun, is an important step to the company as well as to the community at large. In addition to the increase of travelling facilities has also greatly beselves numerous class of farmers, who had manner are brought nearer to market than heretofors. It is empected that double the former amount of freight will be transported over the road after this date, until a further extension to Ripos, seven miles beyond—which will take place in the or six weeks—and that then there will be a very heavy increase. There are now two passenger and two reight trains daily each way. Last Saurday's train ryought in about 10,000 bushels of grain and there is probably now a daily average of about 8,000 bushels.

The Chinese sugar cane seed, distributed by the Patont office last spring, promises to be a complete success at office last spring, promises to be a complete success at the North. A package of seed was planted in Bucks county, Pa., latitu is 40½ degrees north, and has arrived at maturity. The maximum height of the stalk was ten feet, and the product in grain much greater than any cereal under cultivation. The stalk is perfectly green after the seed has reached maturity, and the sancharine principle is then fully developed. The juice, which is most abundant, is very saccharine, quite as much so as the variety of cane cultivated at the South. Whether the juice contains the same amount of crystallizable sugar remains to be tested. Should it be found equal to ordiremains to be cated. Social is to control to see agriculture of the North will be inaugurated, and an immense breadth of land be devoted to its culture as soon as the necessary seed can be obtained, which will require another; car at least. Thereed, having been distributed late in the spring, which was cold and backward, there is good reason to believe that much planted did not reach maturity. Should the plant fail, so far as the manufacture of sugar is con-cerned, yet its value as a forage crop cannot be over estimated at the North. Cattle, horses and hogs cat the entire stalk with avidity, and no doubt would fatten rapidly on it. The seed, which is small, has a thin black hull which can be taken off, leaving a fine white flour as the residue. We have no means at present of estimation the value of this flour as an article of food, but no dot a its merits will be fully investigated. The culture requirefor the plant is similar to that adopted for Indian or when planted in rows, and the seed should be put into when planted in rows, and the scale about the partial the ground about the same time. As it is a quick and strong growing plant, it should be well manured.

A WORD OF ADVICE.

CHARLES' LONDON CORDIAL GIN.

But a few years since, the article now so celebrated as London cordial gin was entirely unknown in the United States. In view of the life which resulted from a general use of adulterated liquors, and at the suggestion of several physicians, who proclaimed the absolute necessity of an extract of juniper which could be relied upon and administered with safety, the proprietor of Charles' London cordial gin was induced to submit to a committee composed of medical men, a sample of his now universally esteemed beverage for their examination. This sample was submitted by this committee to the analysis of chemists in the cities of New York and Philadelphia, whose elaborate repears, which have been already published in the medical and other journals, resulted in the general adoption of Charles' London cordial gin by the faculty in the practice. A contract was at once entered into for its distillation in London, under the british excise laws, and its importation immediately commenced. WORD OF ADVICE.

contract we have a contract to the contract of the contract of

substitute for the original Charles' London cordial gin. By others, the substitution of an article manufactured bace institution was attempted, under the same title, save the name of the proprietor, as the best means of appropriating to the beseful of the authors the resultant which Charles' London cordial gin had carned by years of assistions toil, and the expenditure of many thousands of dollare paids to the newsoner press. Yet has every effort proved abortive. Like the good wine which 'needs no bush,' Charles' London cordial gin has withstood every opposition, not needing the long and wordy advertements which its imitators have called fits requisition, but relying upon its own meetis exclusively. It never has haifed when used as a medicine, and in no sincle case has its delicious around failed to meet an approval when used as beverage.

Charles London cordial gin is the only stimulant which can be used with confidence. Its purity is guarded, first by the bottle, which is blown expressly for it, and has its title stamped in the glass; reat by the label, which bears the face simile signature of its proprietor; and lastly, by the seal upon the wax overring the cork, which shows that the contents have no been tampered with. Despite every precaution, however, counterfeits will abound; yet, the character of the seller will generally enable purchasers to avoid them.

The genuine Charles London cordial gin to for sale by all druggists and gracers. Be sure that, though style? Condon cordial gin, it is absolutely Charles'. To enape adultanted and poisonous mixtures it does not suffice that the article he habeled London cordial gin, but be certain it is Charles'. None other is genuine.
